Tennessee Murder Case Is Mistrial

CELINA, Tenn. (AP)—A son's 100,000-mile, 18-year search for his father's killer came to an other temporary dead end today when the second degree murder trial of Grover Jones ended in a mistrial.

Judge John A. Mitchell declared the mistrial at the state's request on grounds that two character witnesses for the 55-year-old Indianapolis handyman were related to members of the jury.

He did not announce plans for a new trial immediately.

In his motion, Dist. Atty. Gen. Baxter Key Jr. said Mrs. Eldon Long is a sister of juror Robert Jackson, and Lester Brown is a brother-in-law to Juror Eula Copass.

The case presented to the all-male jury in the three-day trial was based on the work of Welby Lee, 51, Tompkinsville, Ky., son of Newt Lee, 64, who was struck down by a car Dec. 31, 1944.

The jury received the case late Wednesday. It was unable to reach a verdict in an hour of deliberating, and was instructed by the judge to "work on it" overnight. The mistrial motion came when it returned today.

Welby Lee testified that he eliminated 18 suspects before centering his amateur sleuthing efforts on Jones in January, 1962. He said he confronted Jones with his evidence three times before presenting it to a grand jury.

As he did to Lee in person, Jones denied he was the driver, said he had never seen the elder Lee and wasn't even in Tennessee when he was killed.

His divorced wife, who formerly lived in this Cumberland mountain country, backed up his testimony. Jones blamed his indictment on trouble with his in-laws, who had told Lee that Jones was the driver.

CELINA, Tenn. (AP)—The state requested a mistrial in the second degree murder trial of Grover Jones today because two defense character witnesses were related to members of the jury.

Judge John A. Mitchell took the request under consideration and did not announce a decision immediately.

The request climaxed the four-day trial of the 55-year-old Indianapolis handyman accused of driving a hit-and-run car which killed Newt Lee, 64, Dec. 31, 1944.

The state's case was based on an 18-year, 100,000-mile search by the victim's son, Welby Lee, 51, who had vowed to find the man who killed his father.

The request was made after the all-male jury returned to the Clay County courtroom today. It received the case late Wednesday, deliberated an hour and informed Mitchell it couldn't agree on a verdict. He told the jurors to "work on it" overnight.

Jones denied he was in Tennessee when the elder Lee was killed. He had denied his guilt in three earlier meetings with the son, who confronted him with his case before presenting it to a grand jury.

State Money in Banks Earn Nothing

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—A legislative audit this week showed that the amount of state funds idle in banks in the state has declined by $2 million.

But more than $15 million from which the state gains no interest remained deposited in 236 banks in Arkansas.

Republican Winthrop Rockefeller made the idle funds a campaign issue this past campaign, saying they should be placed in banks where it would draw interest.

Rockefeller said the state could make $500,000 a year on the interest payments on state funds deposited in banks.

On Jan. 15, 1963, the amount of state money in idle deposits was $17,215,000.

7 Persons Perish in House Fire

By ARSENE DAVIGNON

HOLYOKE, Mass. (AP)—Seven persons—five of them children—perished when a general alarm midnight blaze, believed set, destroyed a five-story tenement today.

Officials said the fire, which apparently started on wooden rear porches, was the worst in the history of this industrial city.

Four of the victims were members of one family. The other three dead were two small brothers and a little girl from a third family.

Five persons were hospitalized. Some 50 to 60 persons either fled the building, or were rescued down ladders. None of the five injured was reported on the danger list.

Fire Chief William W. Mahoney said the fast-spreading fire "definitely was set." A volunteer rescue worker quoted a first-floor tenant as saying he heard what he thinks was an intruder in the cellar of the building shortly before the fire was discovered.

Another volunteer worker, Ronald N. Langlois, 19, said he was able to get into the burning building three times and rescued six or seven children. But, he said, on his fourth trip flames began circling behind him and he had to dash from an upper floor despite the screams of children.

The victims apparently were trapped on the upper floors when flames spread inside from the rear porches and raced up stairways.

Medicare First on the Agenda, Mills Assures

KENSETT, Ark. (AP)—Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., reiterated today that health insurance for the aged under Social Security will be the first business for his House Ways and Means Committee when Congress reconvenes "unless the President himself puts something else ahead of it."

He would not speculate on whether President Johnson would ask that an excise tax cut be placed ahead of the administration's health insurance plan in the order of business.

Mills, chairman of the committee, referred in an interview to remarks he inserted into the Congressional Record on Oct. 3, when Congress adjourned with the health care bill still in a conference committee.

"I said the Social Security bill was the unfinished business of the committee and it would be first in the order."

President Johnson himself puts something else ahead of it," Mills said.

Mills said he has not conferred with the President or White House officials on what his committee should do first. He said he would confer with Johnson before Congress reconvenes.

Mills has opposed financing of health insurance under the Social Security program, saying he fears rising medical costs could jeopardize the soundness of the program.

The Senate passed a bill linking medical care to Social Security. The House voted cash benefit increases. But the bill died in the conference committee.

Fire Chief William W. Mahoney said the fast-spreading fire "definitely was set." A volunteer rescue worker quoted a first-floor tenant as saying he heard what he thinks was an intruder in the cellar of the building shortly before the fire was discovered.

McNamara's Slip Could Mean U.S. Already Has Combat Units in South Viet Nam

By FRE DS. HOFFMAN

WASHINGTON (AP)—An apparent slip of the tongue by Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara shows how difficult it is to maintain an official line at all times when the realities clash with that line.

"We have no plans at present to send further combat units to South Viet Nam," McNamara told newsmen in Texas after conferring with President Johnson about the budget and other matters.

It was McNamara's use of the word "further" that brought reporters up short. That word suggests the United States already has combat units in South Viet Nam.

The official transcript of McNamara's comments Tuesday did not include the word "further." Newsmen who heard the word at the time and checked on the deletion said the omission appeared to be inadvertent. A tape recording shows that the word was used.

Neither McNamara nor any other responsible U.S. official ever has said that any of the 20,000 or so American military men in South Viet Nam are there to fight.

The official position—from which McNamara never before has deviated—holds that the considerable American force has the mission of advising and helping the South Vietnamese to fight for their own independence and freedom.

McNamara gave a succinct summation of the U. S. policy line last Sept. 30 during a television interview.

"It's their war; they must win it. They must fight it, and only they can win it," McNamara said.

"We are providing logistical support, military advice, transport assistance. We are not carrying the battle ourselves. We cannot stand in their place and fight the Communists within the borders of their country."

The U.S. government was held to stand in the face of clear evidence that U.S. Army helicopters equipped with rockets and machine guns have mounted attack after attack against Communist guerrillas.

This government has continued to insist that many of the bombing and napalm assaults by U.S. planes against Red Viet Cong positions and hideouts are training flights for South Vietnamese air force men who go along on such missions.

Questions could be raised about the role of the B57 medium jet bombers and the interceptor jets sent into South Viet Nam after the Gulf of Tonkin incidents in early August, but these are intended for use either against targets in North Viet Nam or to defend South Viet Nam from outside air attack rather than as part of the anti-guerrilla war inside the country.

A case perhaps can be made that American Army men and Marines who are attached to Vietnamese ground units are truly advisers and only incidentally to that function do they get into shooting scraps. To many Americans, watching the U.S. casualty list mount above 1,600 dead, wounded and missing since January 1961, the distinction between combat and advisory duty may be hard to accept.

Why does the U.S. government draw such a distinction? Several reasons are suggested: —If the United States acknowledged it was fighting in South Viet Nam, Communist China might be impelled to enter the war.

—As long as U.S. might has not officially been committed as such, any defeat that might result in this war could be charged off as a South Vietnamese defeat, not American.

—The outright commitment of U.S. fighting men in combat formations might cause repercussions in Congress and among the American people. There might be questions about the legality of such an undeclared war.

—The people of South Viet Nam and others in Southeast Asia might consider U.S. combat commitment a return to a form of colonialism.

Jap Red Riot Against Atomic Sub Visit Fails

By EDWIN Q. WHITE

SASEBO, Japan (AP)—Crewmen from the U.S. nuclear submarine Sea Dragon went sightseeing unmolested in Sasebo today shortly after Japanese riot police broke up a leftist sit-down protest that fell far short of its organizers' estimates.

The only violence was a grappling match between some 200 leftist students and police who dispersed the sitdown attempt.

No incidents involving Americans were reported.

Police maintained a strong guard at the U.S. Navy base in the southern Japanese port. They were uncertain whether the demonstrators had withdrawn to regroup or had abandoned their protest because they failed to draw the 10,000 to 15,000 persons their leaders had predicted.

The Sea Dragon, first nuclear-powered warship to visit the only nation ever atom-bombed, arrived this morning for a three-day recreational visit. The Japanese government admitted the sub only after extensive tests to make certain that it brought no danger of radioactive contamination.

Maneuvers Close in Missouri

FT. LEONARD WOOD, Mo. (AP)

—Fourteen days of mock warfare in South-Central Missouri ended Wednesday as Ozark Air and ground forces pushed the Sioux back into their mythical homeland.

The U. S. Strike Command's joint exercise, Gold Fire I, was designed to test some new Air Force proposals for the delivery and support—almost entirely by air—of a mobile force assigned to put out a brushfire war.

The script for the exercise called for the Sioux to invade "Orland," a small country friendly to the United States. The Ozark force was presumed to be a U. S. Strike Command task force flown 2,500 miles to Orland to repel the invasion.

The Air Force's Tactical Air Command and Military Air Transport Service and the Army's 1st Infantry Division at Ft. Riley, Kan., were the main participants. Marine Corps and Navy units, however, joined in the maneuvers which ranged over 17 counties.

The final action was about four miles southeast of Lebanon, Mo., when an Ozark ground force made contact with a front line Sioux unit. The Sioux were forced to withdraw across U.S. 66, the border between Orland and Argentina.

Why does the U.S. government draw such a distinction? Several reasons are suggested: —If the United States acknowledged it was fighting in South Viet Nam, Communist China might be impelled to enter the war.

Cities Going to Legislature for More Revenue

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Arkansas Municipal League goes to the grass roots this month to build support for its six-point legislative program to help financially troubled cities.

A series of meetings, which have already begun, are designed to encourage enough backers of the plan to get it through the 1965 legislature.

Voters turned down a proposed constitutional amendment in the Nov. 3 general election, though it would have given cities more taxing power and is among the aims of the league.

The legislature remains the cities' only source of revenue. A district meeting was held Wednesday at Harrison.

Others have been held at Searcy, Helena, Heber Springs and Jonesboro. Meetings are scheduled to be held at Clarksville, Rogers, Dermott, Magnolia, Hope, Fordyce, Hot Springs and Jacksonville.

A Municipal League bulletin pointed out this week that only South Carolina's per capita income for municipalities is below Arkansas' $39.32.

The league's program provides: —That cities get three per cent of the first $120 million in state general revenues and 10 per cent of collections above that.

—That cities get highway turnback funds according to the formula adopted in 1957, which includes a population ratio based on the most recent federal census and on highway and street use.

—That cities get revenues from a two cent tax increase on cigarettes.

—That mayors be given four-year terms.

—That the legislature give cities more power to tax.

—That incorporation of new municipalities be restricted.

Gov. Orval E. Faubus has endorsed all of the league's points, but his endorsement of the first point was in principle only. He said he had not decided about what percentage of general revenues cities should get.

servative government. Public demonstrations, however, have been minor compared to those that swept the country when the government concluded the U.S.-Japan security treaty in 1960.

As the Sea Dragon moved to its mooring buoy, about 2,000 demonstrators marched to the U.S. Navy base in a cold drizzle and milled around in front of its gates. They pulled back at noon for lunch, then came back for an afternoon sitdown demonstration.

About 200 members of the ultra-left Zengakuren Students Association charred when police began forcibly hauling them off the four-lane street leading to the big American base. Many of the students wore crash helmets, and injuries apparently were limited to bloody noses, bruises and scratches.

The major part of the demonstrators — mostly Socialists and leftist labor unionists — watched the student-police struggle but did not join in. After police had cleared out the students, the others left voluntarily.

Navy men, including some crewmen from the Sea Dragon, began leaving the base soon after for routine shore leaves.

The commander of the Sea Dragon, Capt. Douglas B. Guthe of Pawling, N.Y., told newsmen his crew was aware of the demonstrations, "but we see no reason why they should be bothered by a small minority."

He said most of the crew had been in Japan before, had enjoyed Japanese hospitality "and I see no reason why they should have any trouble now."

A Report on Courtesy and the Cost

By DENNIS LEE ROYLE

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — The adage that "courtesy costs nothing" is doubtless still true, but Margaret Malherbe has found it takes money to promote the idea.

Lack of public support has forced Mrs. Malherbe and 14 helpers to abandon a courtesy crusade aimed at reducing friction between the segregated racial groups of South Africa. She spent two years at it, and about $1,400.

Mrs. Malherbe, a Johannesburg housewife, says:

"We are sorry to see the campaign abandoned, but our operation lasted only as long as funds were forthcoming. Now we have nothing left in the bank."

The courtesy campaigners distributed thousands of leaflets, posters and booklets urging shopkeepers, householders, business organizations and schools to encourage and promote interracial politeness.

The campaigners' courtesy code suggested that black and whites should:

Speak out against rudeness wherever found;
Refuse to accept service if others, regardless of color, have been waiting longer;
Refrain from calling a black

One Problem Has Puzzled Scientists

By RALPH DIGHTON

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Scientists are becoming increasingly concerned about a little-publicized problem that must be solved before groups of men can stay more than a few days in space.

The problem is what to do with the hundreds of contaminants from men and machinery that can pollute air in space ships.

In tests in tightly closed chambers on the ground these contaminants have caused painful skin rash, violent nausea and impaired mental performance. On long trips they could accumulate in amounts that would prove fatal.

Millions of dollars have been spent by industry and government agencies in an effort to identify and filter out these pollutants. The most ambitious project so far is a $1.5-million facility in the Aerospace Medical Research Laboratories at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base, Ohio, where four glass-walled domes have been erected to study men under simulated space cabin conditions.

No results have been released, but enough is known to show that the problem of foul air in space cabins is serious.

One of the top scientists in this research is Dr. Thomas B. Weber, formerly with the Aerospace Medical Center at Brooks Air Force Base, Tex., and now manager of advanced research for space engineering at Beckman Instruments, Inc., Fullerton, Calif.

Weber says all space-cabin simulation experiments so far have had to be called off within a few days because of accumulation of toxic elements in the closed atmospheres.

"This may be the reason Russia's recent three-man space flight, which was expected to last several days, ended after only 24 hours," Weber said in an interview. "Monitoring systems may have shown a buildup of contaminants and caused early cancellation."

"Unless an answer is found this is a definite tread to our own plans for a manned orbiting laboratory and it could delay the Apollo program to land men on the moon."

Working under Air Force contracts, Weber has devised instruments to collect and identify more than 400 contaminants given off by the human body and by space-cabin equipment.

So far he has found 26 that are potentially lethal, including highly explosive hydrogen, given off by water used in cooling systems; ozone, given off by electrical equipment, and ammonia, acetone and alcohol, found in breath, perspiration and body wastes.

"None of these occurs in dangerous amounts in a normal environment," Weber said, "but in a small cabin they build up to lethal concentrations in short periods of time."

Asks Funds for Election Contest

PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP) — Mayor Offie Lites appealed Wednesday for funds to help him contest an election in which he failed to win a seventh term.

Lites said he did not have the funds to pay for an expensive election contest.

Austin T. Franks, an independent, defeated Lites by 101 votes.

Lites said his workers had checked the voter lists and had found "a good number of names not included in the poll book" which shows the names of persons who have paid the poll tax.

The deadline for filing election contest suits is Nov. 23.

servant or other employee by the name of Jim, Boy or Kaffir — African;

Challenge unfair condemnation of any particular racial group;

Never ask a male African servant to wash or iron women's undergarments — it offends his dignity;

Treat Africans and other races with human dignity;

Teach children to be polite.

"Children are often the worst offenders," says Mrs. Malherbe. "The social structure of South Africa allows white children to be waited on hand and foot, not only by African servants but also by their parents. This way of life breeds thoughtlessness which leads to rudeness and, as they grow older, it becomes an established way of life which leads to friction between the races."

Mrs. Malherbe found promotion of racial good will no easy task.

South Africa's rigid apartheid laws are enforced by thousands of "whites only" signs. People are channeled into separate buses, trains, theaters and post office counters. There are thus few opportunities for contact by whites intent on promoting courtesy and good will among the racial groups.

New Chairman for Girl Scouts Here

Mrs. Fred McElroy became chairman of the Melonvine Neighborhood of Girl Scouts in the Conifer Council on November 1. Mrs. McElroy replaced Mrs. J. Calvin Smith who has held the position for the past year.

On November 10 the new chairman presided over her first executive meeting for leaders, assistant leaders, and committee members. It was held at the Little House in Fair Park.

The date for a Christmas Holiday Open House at the Little House was set for Sunday, December 13 from 3 to 5 p.m. It was announced that five troops in the neighborhood have contributed to the Golden Book of Honor which will be placed in new G.S. Service Center in Texarkana.

Plans were made for the Council meeting in Texarkana November 19 with luncheon to be held at the Hotel Grim. Those who were chosen as delegates are Mrs. Fred McElroy, Mrs. Gordon Tyer, and Mrs. James Laughard, while Mrs. Lloyd Hendrix was named as an alternate.

The next neighborhood meeting has been tentatively scheduled for Friday, January 8.

Iris Club Meets

Mass arrangements of chrysanthemums decorated the home of Mrs. C.M. Agee when she and Mrs. Joe Jones entertained the Hope Iris Club Tuesday, November 10. Mass arrangements for a den were brought by the members, and in judging them, first place went to Mrs. Harold Stephens, the club president. She presided over the brief business session.

For the program an interesting and informative series of slides were shown and discussed by the program chairman, Mrs. Lahroy Spates, and her son, Jack. The slides illustrated the proper construction of flower arrangements and were thoroughly enjoyed.

Pumpkin tarts with whipped cream, nuts, and coffee were served to 11 members and one guest, Mr. Spates.

Church Women Sponsor A Potluck Supper

The Woman's Society of Christian Service sponsored a church-wide potluck supper and fellowship hour at the First Methodist Church, Sunday evening, November 8, honoring the Rev. and Mrs. Otto Teague. He is the new Hope District Superintendent of Methodist Churches.

Fall foliage and chrysanthemums decorated the tables, where 125 enjoyed a tasty potluck meal. Afterwards, special music was presented by a quartet, Clifford Franks, David Pearson, Elmer Brown, and Mrs. Elmer Brown, accompanied at the piano by Miss Poleda Glanton.

A few remarks were made by the host minister, the Rev. Robert Moore, Jr., honored guest, the Rev. Otto Teague; the Rev. W.R. Burks; the Rev. J.D. Montgomery; district lay leader, Judge Royce Weisenberger; church lay leader Hinton Davis; committee chairmen, Harry Hawthorne, pastoral relations, and Ed Aslin, membership, and evangelism; and WSCS President, Mrs. C.V. The devotion of Thanksgiving was given by Mrs. George Balentine.

Here's What Young Girls Love Today

By PEGGY SIMPSON

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Today's teen-age girls love patterned stockings, inside-out sweat shirts and tiny heels, men with humor and consideration, and a career until they marry at age 23.

An Associated Press survey of and friends.

Mrs. Jim McKenzie is spending a few days in Memphis with her daughter, Mrs. V.H. "Bud-dy" Nix while Mr. Nix is on a business trip.

Mrs. Madge Baskette and daughter, Linda and Mrs. Elliott West and children of Dallas are the house guests of Mrs. J. E. Schooley and Mrs. Thelma Moore.

The 52 Miss Teen-Age America candidates here for the fourth pageant also found that all but eight work for charity causes or hold down part-time jobs.

They go to the extremes in clothes; but simplicity is the byword whether it is a sporty A-line dress, Madras shift, or dressy crepe in the high-waisted style made popular by the movie "Tom Jones."

The current fad in Washington, D.C., is "cut-off jeans and sweat shirts worn inside out with the sleeves cut off," says Ellen Rein. Other fads are boots, knee socks and shoulder bags.

In case parents hadn't noticed, much of today's primping is over the flip hairdo, worn by 35 of the girls. Make-up now includes mascara and eyeliner as standard equipment along with powder, eyebrow pencil and pale lipstick.

Only four of the 52 go steady and the others don't much want to. Neither do they aspire to be teen-age brides.

They're looking for a dream

Beethoven Favored by Composers

WASHINGTON (AP) — It was Beethoven by a landslide — bigger than the one President Johnson chalked up — when the National Symphony Orchestra logged the returns in its favorite symphonic composer poll.

In an awesome display of musical popularity, the Bonn genius got 61.7 per cent of the vote in a field of 38 — a little better than the 61.4 per cent Johnson scored in another sort of contest last week. Immediately behind Beethoven were Sibelius, Mozart, Brahms and Tchaikovsky.

The National Symphony mailed 35,000 ballots to subscribers and the general public. About 1,000 ballots were returned.

Injury Won't Stop Tulsa Pass Catcher

NEW YORK (AP) - Chances are that Howard Twilley's sore ankle won't stop the Tulsa pass catcher from setting an all-time collegiate receiving record this weekend.

Twilley, favorite target of Jerry Rhome, the Hurricanes' sensational passer, is two receptions short of the season record of 70 set last year by Larry Elkins of Baylor. The Junior end, injured last week in Tulsa's 19-7 victory over Memphis State, may not be in the starting lineup Saturday against North Texas State but he figures to see action.

Twilley, the national leader in receptions (68), yardage (836) and touchdown passes (9), according to latest NCAA major college statistics, also is bidding to become the first end ever to capture the season scoring title. The point leader a week ago, he now trails Brian Piccolo of Wake Forest by two points, 77-75.

The Deacons' fullback, who also leads the country in rushing yardage, scored all his team's points in a 20-7 upset victory over Duke last Saturday. Piccolo's 12 touchdowns top that department. Kent McCoughan of Nebraska and Syracuse's TD twins, Jim Nance and Floyd Little, are next with 10 each. Twilley's runner-up total has come on nine touchdowns and 21 extra points.

Dave Ray of Alabama, the kicking scoring leader with 52 points, is three points shy of the all-time mark of 55 kicking points, set by Navy's Greg Mather in 1961 and two field goals away from the record of 13, established by Auburn's Ed Dye in 1960.

Brown Named Pro Back of the Week

By JACK HAND Associated Press Sports Writer NEW YORK (AP) - Old dependable Jimmy Brown came through with another of his patented 100-plus yard games for the Cleveland Browns last Sunday and joined the club as this week's Associated Press Player of the Week in the National Football League.

Brown rambled 121 yards on 18 carries and scored once in the Browns' 34-24 victory over the stubborn Washington Redskins. Jim's touchdown was the 101st of his brilliant career.

Down through the years, Brown has amassed 100 or more yards rushing in a record total of 48 different games. Brown had four big days this season, gaining 188, 149, 104 and then 121 yards.

It is largely through Brown's efforts that Cleveland holds a two-game edge in the NFL's Eastern Conference with only five games to play. Jim leads all the rushers as usual with 934 yards for the season on 179 carries, a lead of 208 yards on runner-up Jim Taylor of Green Bay.

Taylor also had himself an outstanding day Sunday with his third 100-plus effort of the season as he gained 145 yards on 19 carries against the tough Detroit Lions' defense in a 30-7 Packer victory.

Variable Weather Next Few Days

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Arkansas will receive variable weather the next few days, the U.S. Weather Bureau said today, as a series of rapidly moving cold fronts cross the state.

Cloudy to partly cloudy skies today should give way to fair and cool weather tonight and Friday as the first front sweeps the state, the bureau said.

Maximum temperatures mostly in the 60s today are forecast, with overnight low readings in the mid 30s northwest to around 50 southeast.

Maximum temperatures Wednesday ranged from 72 degrees at Fayetteville to 79 at Texarkana. Overnight low readings ranged from 58 degrees at Fort Smith to 68 degrees at Little Rock.

Kelso Wins as Everyone Expected

By GEORGE BOWEN Associated Press Sports Writer LAUREL, Md. (AP) - Kelso, king of the hill for an unprecedented four years, refuses to come down.

His ground seemed shaky in Wednesday's $150,000 Washington, D.C., International horse race.

The old boy sent his would-be successor, Gun Bow, whose rider weakly cried foul, reeling by 4 1/2 lengths. Six foreign invaders were lost in the shuffle in the battle for the pinnacle.

Kelso's 7-year-old legs traveled the fastest time ever on an American track for 1 1/2 miles, 2:23.45.

The glorious triumph after three previous seconds in the same race gave pause to his owner and trainer who had been thinking of issuing an abdication decree in behalf of Kelso.

Mrs. Richard C. duPont, the owner, between crying and joy said, "I can't say anything definite about whether he'll run again."

"It shook up everything," said trainer Carl Hanford. "He's in such wonderful condition, it would be a shame to stop him now."

There is no reason to rush Kelso into retirement as long as he shows the life he did in the International. As a gelding, he has no future of producing children and racing for money is his last claim to fame.

He already has picked up $1,893,362, more than any racing thoroughbred in history. He is the first to be voted best U. S. horse more than once with a fifth in the offing.

The 13th International was a two-horse Yankee race from the start and the closest at the finish was - 13

Unfair Cadet Action Has No Solution

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Writer

On the last play of the Arkansas-Texas A&M football game, an official threw his flag. But there was no penalty and the game ended with the Aggies on the Arkansas one-yard line.

Nobody checked with the officials on why the flag was thrown and why there wasn't another play as a result of the penalty call.

Some said the officials must not have taken action on the violation because the Aggie stands had emptied and the Cadets had flooded the field as they always do at the end of a game.

The implication was that there already had been enough trouble and the officials thought it best not to prolong it.

Wich, however, was quite incorrect. The official had signalled a violation all right but it was against the offense — it was offensive pass interference.

The rules say that if a violation by the offense occurs on the last play of the game, the thing ends right there. No additional play can be given. It's the same at the half. At the end of the first and third quarters the violation is carried over into the next period.

In the case in point those who didn't know the rule said the Aggies were deprived of a certain touchdown, because if they had been given another play they undoubtedly would have scored.

It would have meant nothing more, however, than saving their feelings—they would have lost anyway. The score was 17-0 at the time, in favor of Arkansas. And chances are that the Aggies wouldn't have scored since they would have been penalized 15 yards for the pass interference even if the rules had allowed an additional play.

Which also brings an examination of the rules to determine what can be done toward preventing a recurrence of the events of this night.

The officials had to stop the game a half dozen times because the Cadets, with other fans eventually joining in, made much noise the Arkansas team couldn't hear the signals.

It was done although repeated requests were made that the crowd desist so the teams might get on with the game. Finally, there came the threat of a penalty against A&M if the noise continued.

"We have told the Cadets time and again that they are hurting their team just as much as the opposing team," said Coach Hank Foldberg of A&M. "After all, the defense can't hear either."

It long has been a problem but the demonstration at the A&M-Arkansas game was considered the most difficult yet.

There is no rule that specifically covers the situation but there is one that can be interpreted as including it. "Any act which interferes with orderly game administration is prohibited, including the following,"

Bookmakers Favor Liston

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Bookmakers have posted Sonny Liston as an 11-9 favorite to regain the world heavyweight boxing title from Cassius Clay in their rematch Monday night.

Bettors, in moderate action, have kept Liston the favorite since he opened at 13-5.

Clay took the crowd from Liston on a seventh round technical knockout last February in Miami Beach, Fla.

Few Care But Liston Is Favored

By CHARLES MCGILLICUDDY
Associated Press Sports Writer

BOSTON (AP) — Champion Cassius Clay is laughing at the boxing writers and other so-called experts who have installed challenger Sonny Liston as the favorite for their heavyweight championship bout next Monday.

"A thousand newsmen picked Liston before the last fight," he jeered, "but what happened?"

He noted Liston has been installed the favorite again and again.

"Don't they ever learn?"

Clay, who prefers the name Muhammad Ali, insisted Wednesday he will have the last laugh.

"Liston's a slow, old man," Clay said. "I can cut him easy. I'll slice his face up."

Clay was honored for the laughs he has given others. The publication devoted to satire, honored him as Athlete of the Year for having brought humor back to the gloomy boxing picture.

The Lampton is best known for its annual awards to Hollywood stars for Worst Performance By A Male Actor, etc.

Clay showed no sign of humor while going four rounds with his favorite sparring partner, Cody Jones.

Liston boxed five rounds Wednesday, giving him a total of 148 since he started training for the attempt to recover the crown he lost in Miami.

Liston wouldn't talk to the writers after his workout. A camp spokesman said the challenger is getting tighter each day and had a hassle with trainer Willie Reddish Tuesday.

says the rule, listing the acts of players, substitutions, coaches and authorized attendants as coming under the scope of the officials.

The penalty is 15 yards and this covers any act that interferes with orderly game administration, as the reading of the rules indicates.

In other words, the officials can penalize the home team for the acts of its people.

Not only is a penalty provided. The officials can forfeit the game.

It is doubtful that an official ever would forfeit the game because it would mean nothing more than a forfeit. Since the losing team's fans do the hooting in most instances, forfeiting the game would be no worse than losing it. Also, the official wouldn't want to deprive the fans, who paid to see the game, of getting their money's worth.

Hope-Nashville Game Usually a Good One

By CARTER HARDAGE
Hope Star Sports Writer

After completing seven of their conference games in one gruelling stretch, the Bobcats will take time off Friday night to go against the spunky Class A Nashville Scrappers.

The Scrappers have gone down in defeat three times thus far this year.

In a 10-0 loss to Gurdon, the Go-Devs covered a fumble in the end zone for the night's only TD. Nashville failed to cross the 20-yard line with the ball all night.

Later the Scrappers topped before a 19-0 onslaught by the Ashtown Panthers.

Last week, Nashville fumbled away a 14-6 game to 4AA Magnolia.

The Hope-Nashville grid battles, played on Thanksgiving day until last year, have become quite a tradition. Anything can happen when these two teams square off.

As Coach Alan Howard put it, "This is a grudge game, and you never can tell what will turn up with this kind of situation."

It was two years ago that the Bobcats spoiled a perfect season for the Scrappers by breaking open the scoreless match late in the third quarter with a long bomb from Gary Mayfield to David Porterfield.

Howard iced the match in the closing minutes by springing Porterfield fifty-nine yards down the middle on the famous "Sally-ran" play.

The match last year was somewhat different. The Scrappers really got scrapped to the tune of 52-13.

This will be the last road game of the season for the Cats. Here are the probable starting lineups:

Believes Porkers Have Incentive

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Arkansas football coach Frank Broyles said Wednesday he sees more incentive for the third-ranked Razorbacks to beat Southern Methodist here Saturday.

The prospects of going 10-0 is enough to keep the team from becoming overconfident, Broyles said.

"I don't see more pressure," Broyles said. "That's encouraging—the fact that we have a lot of incentive going for us."

The offensive unit emphasized the defensive part of the game, and the defense emphasized running plays in Wednesday's practice. SMU does not use the two-platoon system, so the Razorbacks' units may have to be prepared to go both ways in some situations, Broyles said.

But Sonny Gibbs and TCU had other ideas and they prevailed as he led the Frogs to a stunning 6-0 upset victory.

This year, Arkansas is No. 3 Methodist at Fayetteville Saturday the Cotton Bowl with a homecoming victory over Southern Methodist. It would leave the Razorbacks only one game away from a perfect season.

It's not unlikely that Arkansas Coach Frank Broyles is using the 1961 Texas-TCU game as an example of warning to the Hogs, and it's equally probable that Hayden Fry is reminding the Mustangs that they be in the SWC cellar of that same game of three years ago.

The two principles in the ex-crack at the Cotton Bowl should serve as a warning to the Razorbacks. The Steers, beaten only by Arkansas and rated No. 5 nationally, would still have a crack at the Cotton Bowl should they win and the Razorbacks lose.

But TCU would like nothing better than to spoil Longhorn hopes for any major bowl engagement this year. So the memory of the 1961 game will live, slam the door and start throwing the furniture around. Sometimes, windows were broken.

When the storm broke, he would shower, shave, dress and step out, calm and smiling.

Later, he would get together with offending players, one at a time, for a private discussion of their faults. Because he never exposed one to public embarrassment, all his players liked him.

Hutchinson, a native of Seattle, won 25 games for Seattle of the Pacific Coast League in his first year as a pitcher and was named Minor League Player of the Year by The Sporting News.

His best pitching years at Detroit were 1949, when he was 15-7, and 1950, when he was 17-4.

On July 2, 1952, he replaced Red Rolfe as manager of the Tigers. In the next two years, his teams finished sixth and fifth and it was back to the minors in 1955 as manager of Seattle.

Seattle won the pennant that year and from 1956 into the 1958 season he managed the Cardinals. They finished fourth in 1956 and second in 1957. Once again, he went back to Seattle in 1959, but he moved to the Reds on July 9.

A sixth-place finish in 1960 was followed by a pennant in 1961, although the Reds lost to the New York Yankees in a five-game World Series. The Reds were a close third in 1962 and fifth in 1963.

Hutchinson was married in 1943 to Patricia Finley. They have four children — Rick, 20; Jack, 19; Patty, 16, and Joe, 9.

Before becoming a manager, Hutchinson was a successful pitcher in the minors and with the Detroit Tigers. His major league record of 99 wins, 71 losses, might have been better, had he not missed four seasons, 1942 through 1945, in military service.

As a manager, Hutchinson was sometimes rough and tough, sometimes cool and patient.

When his temper flared, he took it out on the furniture in his clubhouse office, not the players.

After losing a game he believed he should have won, he would often stride into his office, which hit a bridge on Arkansas 162 about two miles east of here. He was traveling alone.

SMU Will Be Trying Hard for Big Upset

It was at this time of year back in 1961 when the University of Texas football team was rated No. 1 in the country and had every intention of remaining undefeated and untied through the Texas Christian game.

Spring Hill Cagers Win 3 From Garland

Spring Hill entertained three teams from Garland Tuesday night, and walked out with three victories.

The Junior girls won 45 to 14. Sandy Aaron made 16, Cynthia McCormack 13 and Rita Morese, 12.

The Senior girls games was closer but Spring Hill was on top 49 to 41. Betty McNeil of Spring Hill and Stewart of Garland, each had 30 points. Jackie Kidd had 10.

Gary Kidd tossed in 36 points as the Spring Hill Senior boys racked up a 73 to 55 victory.

no doubt, be evoked most of all this week at Fort Worth.

The other conference game on tap Saturday is Rice and Texas A&M at Houston. Texas Tech is host to Washington State at Lubbock and Baylor journeys to the University of Kentucky at Lexington.

Arkansas, which can insure at least a tie for the SWC crown with a victory this week, had everyone working on both offense and defense yesterday.

The reason was that SMU doesn't play platoon football, and either of the Hogs' specialized platoons could get caught in the game Saturday.

"I see more incentive," Broyles said. "That's encouraging—the fact that we have a lot of incentive going for us."

He said he didn't think the team was feeling more pressure as their perfect record was put on the line week after week.

SMU worked on the Arkansas offense yesterday. The Mustangs are expected to be free of injuries for the clash.

Texas Coach Darrell Royal said "wingback" Phil Harris would play Saturday for the first time in three weeks. He added that linebacker Timmy Doerr and end Sandy Sands would miss yet another game because of injuries.

TGU is free of injury for the Texas game, although quarterback Kent Nix's knee buckled under him for a spell yesterday at practice.

A&M, spirited after last week's 23-0 victory over SMU, apparently will be injury-free. Rice fullback Paul Piper, suffering from knee trouble after the Hogs trimmed the Owls 21-0, is a doubtful starter.

Injured Tech end Tommy Dovie will probably miss Saturday's game but Joe Hurley, another casualty, will play.

Baylor trainer Sam Ketcham said Lawrence Elkins, brilliant pass receiver for the Bears, wouldn't see action this week. He suffered wracking bruises as Texas whipped Baylor 20-14 last week.

Pine Bluff, fifth-ranked in the Associated Press Arkansas high school football poll, challenges Little Rock Central's lead in the Big 12 Conference this week.

The clash between the Zebraws and the third-ranked Tigers highlights the Class AAA schedule, which also pairs No. 1 North Little Rock with No. 8 Fort Smith Northside.

Central was held to an 0-0 tie by North Little Rock last week, although the Tigers thoroughly dominated the game. They'll shake off their problems this week.

We hit 760 of the games last week. Let's try again:

Little Rock Central 14, Pine Bluff 7. The Tigers will move the ball, even against Pine Bluff's impressive defense.

Fort Smith Northside 7, North Little Rock 0. Two good defenses and plain, old, power football will settle it.

Little Rock Hall 21, Jonesboro 0. The Warriors could run wild.

Texarkana 12, Blytheville 0. Shut out in Chickasaw land.

El Dorado 14, Hot Springs 7. This could be the liveliest game this week.

Fayetteville 24, Fort Smith Southside 0. Easy.

Springdale 14, Huntsville 6. Clipping the wings of Eagles.

Hog Defense Is Best in Conference

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Ronnie Caveness, Arkansas' Mr. Linebacker, and the rest of the best defense in the Southwest Conference tangle with Southern Methodist here Saturday in a bid to nail down a Cotton Bowl berth.

The Razorbacks, third-ranked and 8-0, can clinch at least a tie for the league title and capture the host role for the Cotton Bowl by whipping the Mustangs.

Coach Frank Broyles has put together the second-best defense in the 70 years that football has been played at Arkansas and it is No. 1 in the SWC this year.

The Razorback defense has yielded the fewest yards total offense and has set up or scored more than half of the 21 touchdowns by Arkansas this year.

Caveness scored one on a pass interception and recovered a fumble inside Tulsa's 20 to star Arkansas out of a 14-0 deficit to a 31-22 triumph over the Jerry Rhome-led Hurricane.

Defensive halfback Harry Jones has carried the ball twice — both pass interceptions and both for touchdowns.

Ken Hatfield, the safety, is the nation's leading punt returner. He broke 81 yards on a return, that gave Arkansas a touchdown in beating then top-ranked Texas 14-13.

The Mustangs, 1-6 for the season and winless in conference play, have perhaps the finest punter in the league in Danny Thomas, but Arkansas' Bobby Nix is an excellent kicker, too.

SMU whipped Arkansas 14-7 last year under the tutoring of former Arkansas aide Hayden Fry and the Razorbacks would like to avenge that loss.

Voter Must Register in Person

By JOHN R. STARR
Associated Press Writer

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The voter registration system set up by Amendment 51 (proposed Amendment 54) to the Arkansas Constitution covers almost 50 column inches of small print, but its meaning to the voter is simple.

The voter will have to register in person with the county clerk and he will have to sign his name when he votes.

That is all he will ever have to do unless he moves, changes his name or fails to vote at least once every four years.

Most of the small print is concerned with setting up the mechanics of handling voter registration and this concerns county officials and election officials.

All but 10 of the amendment's 21 sections are subject to change by a two-thirds vote of the legislature.

But the legislature will be powerless to set up anything but a permanent system, to make payment of the poll tax a requirement for voting or to change penalties established for violation of the amendment.

The Committee for Voter Registration, which drafted the amendment, circulated petitions to get it on the ballot and campaigned for it, believes the new registration system will help assure honest elections as well as working as a convenience for the voter.

Some of those who oppose it contend that it will tend to create more election problems because its provisions for purging the voting lists of persons no longer eligible to vote are not adequate.

The amendment provides for cancellation of registration of persons who move from the county or die or are convicted of a felony in addition to those who do not vote each four years.

The only real loophole is in the provision about moving from the county. And this one is closed if the voter attempts to register in another Arkansas county because the permanent registrar (county clerk) in the new county is required to give the registrar in the old county notification of the new registration.

The state Bureau of Vital Statistics must notify the registrar of all deaths and the circuit clerk must inform him of felony convictions.

The amendment will permit registration up to 20 days before any election. This is an improvement over the poll tax system because, in some instances, a person had to pay the poll tax almost a year in advance of an election or he couldn't qualify.

Persons who had not paid the tax couldn't vote, even though they may have developed a consuming interest in the few weeks before the election.

The amendment gives the state Board of Election Commissioners authority to promulgate regulations for conducting registration and to draw up the necessary forms.

The various county election commissions are designated as the county boards of registration and are charged with overseeing registration at the county level.

The amendment is self-initiating, which means that no action by the legislature is needed to put it into effect. It becomes effective next Jan. 1 but voting under the registration system will not start until March 15.

Elections before March 15 will be conducted from the current poll tax lists.

The amendment requires

Life in Arkansas

By J. C. TILLMAN
Associated Press Writer

Texarkana residents cautiously opening their doors Halloween night were confronted not with hobgoblin masks and "trick or treat" cries — but four little voices singing a Beatle song.

Jane Ann McLean, Linda Blondell, Lynn Corbett Reese and Camille Crank decided to be different and made their rounds wearing oversized sweaters, carrying cardboard facemasks of instruments, and made up like the British singing group, shaggy hair and all.

They began singing the song that goes, "She's just seventeen" as front doors opened. At several stops they were invited into sing another selection.

Mrs. Pansy Morrow of Dowdy, near Batesville, doesn't mind going out of the way to help people exercise their voting franchise.

Her mother, who lives in Mississippi, was visiting her last week, suddenly realized she had forgotten to vote absentee and faced the prospect of not being able to cast her ballot.

Mrs. Morrow drove her to her home precinct in time to vote. She lives 260 miles from Dowdy.

It may have been removed by now — but one Northeast Arkansas resident reports this combination political-non-political bumper sticker:

"I'm for Johnson, Goldwater, Miller, Humphrey — I'm a salesman."

The authors of the column "Campus Ups and Downs" in the Arkansas State College Herald newspaper just plain aren't optimistic about homecoming.

The following forecast was in-permanent registrars to report registration figures to the state auditor by June 1 each year. Registrars may report more often than that.

The voter will no longer be able to have a relative qualify him. He must register in person and have his signature or mark witnessed.

Then, when he votes, he must sign his copy of his registration form in a place provided for "Record of Voting."

A voter who fails to vote at least once every four years will be notified that his registration has been cancelled. He may then register again if he desires.

If a voter moves within a county, he does not have to re-register, but he must notify the registrar of the change of address so records can be changed.

Election officials in each precinct will be provided with duplicate copies of the registration forms of all voters in the precinct for use on election day.

Section 18 requires the general assembly to make such appropriations as may be required to put the amendment into effect. There has been talk of paying costs with state funds since the counties get no economic benefits from registration as they do from the poll tax.

The fate of the poll tax is up to the legislature. Technically, it is a per capita tax and can be collected even though it is not used for voting. It has become the custom, however, to give the taxpayer the option of paying the tax, if he wants to vote.

Most of the revenue goes to public schools and the schools do not want to lose this money which averages about $500,000 a year and which hit $715,000 in this unusual political year.

The argument over whether to make this a mandatory tax is expected to be one of the warmest issues in the 1965 legislature.

Americans to Borrow, Spend More

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Americans are set to spend more and borrow more the rest of this year. If present signs are borne out, the boost this will give the economy is expected to carry over at least into next spring.

Consumers currently are increasing both the amount spent and the percentage of their incomes parted with. The slowly rising cost of living accluded in the column last week: "Weather forecast for this week: Clear and chilly until Friday night, when homecoming displays will be receiving finishing touches. Rainy and windy Friday night and Saturday, with snow clearing after the game."

counts for only part of this outlay. And little fear of sharp increases in prices in the future is reported.

In September consumer credit also rose fairly sharply, as much of the increased spending was put on the cuff.

At the same time, business was raising inventories and this, too, is a form of betting on future prosperity. An even surer sign of confidence is the latest report on business plans to raise spending for new plants and equipment. Industrial leaders are counting on expanding markets.

Pollsters studying consumer intentions cite a significant rise in optimism during the summer months. They project this, plus gains in personal income totals, into larger dollar outlays in the months ahead. The University of Michigan's Institute of Social Research thinks the marked improvement in consumer sentiment between June and September is due more to actual increases in before-tax income of many Americans rather than to the gains in take-home pay from the federal tax cut. Its survey shows many consumers dismissing the tax cut as too small on a weekly basis to make much difference in their spending.

Earlier debt repayments and savings increases have given many consumers a greater readiness this fall to spend. The institute thinks "the economy will be stimulated by substantial consumer demand during the Christmas season and also in the spring of next year when fiscal policy will provide a much smaller new stimulus than in the spring of this year."

Government figures for September show that the change from saving to spending and borrowing is already under way.

Installment debt rose $513 million to nearly $57.5 billion. Other forms of credit brought the total of consumer credit to $73.5 billion.

In the three summer months personal consumption spending hit an annual rate of $404.5 billion. Personal savings dropped to 7.4 per cent of after-tax income, after rising to a higher

Drought Is Blamed for Mudslide

By GENE HANDSAKER

LOS ANGELES (AP) — An avalanche of mud pours down a suburban street, wrecks a home and carries a housewife three-quarters of a mile to her death in a debris-filled catch basin. Why?

This tragedy, which occurred two days ago in adjoining Burbank, points up an old vicious circle:

Half or more of the native ground cover in Southern California is dry—and highly combustible—from years of drought.

"Then a fire starts, you get these 100-mile-an-hour Santa Ana winds and it's impossible to stop," says Bob Singleton, public information officer for the county fire department.

The Santa Anas are hot winds flowing down coastal canyons from interior desert regions—the "devil winds" of California lore.

The fire strips hills and mountainsides of their protective covering of water-retaining brush and grass.

Then, when rain does come, as it did Monday, water, boulders, tree limbs and mud come pouring down on helpless homes, sweeping cars and sometimes people to destruction.

Why do people live in such danger areas?

A county aide who lives on a dead-end street in the Hollywood hills, overlooking the San Fernando Valley, says:

"I love it. It's a little closer to living in the country, and much quieter than the flatland."

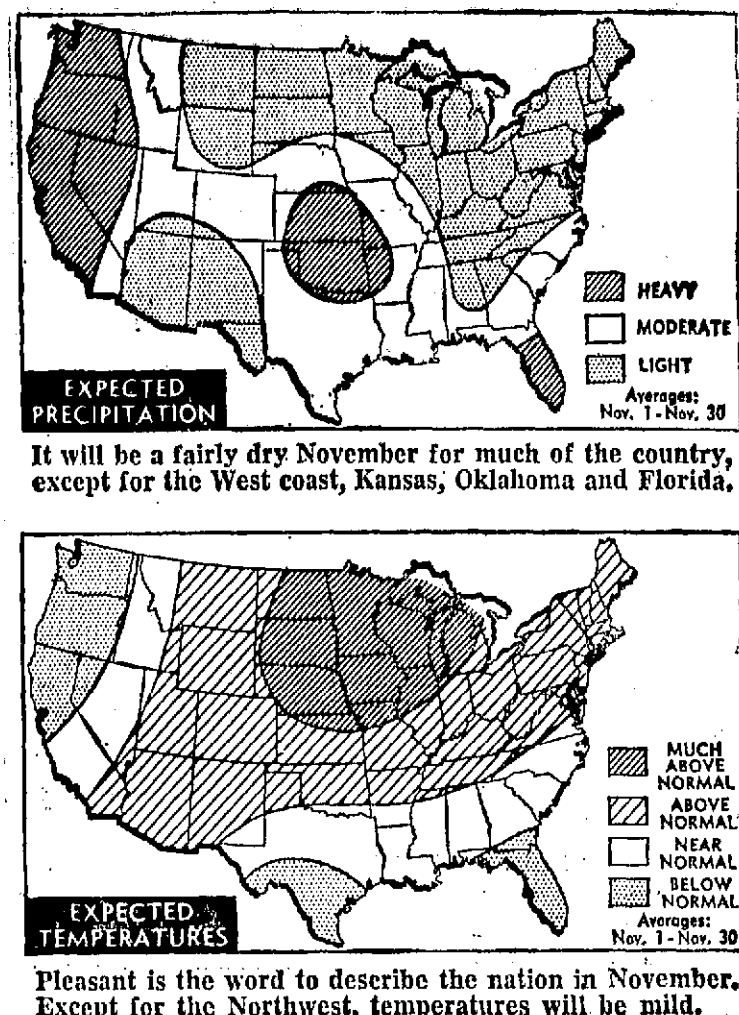

A county ordinance forbids building in areas "determined by the county engineer to be subject to flood hazard" unless there is provision for adequate drainage and other protection.

This applies only in unincorporated county territory, however. What's needed, says Warren M. Dorn, county board chairman, is a uniform ordinance covering all of the county's 76 incorporated cities.

How can a repetition of Monday's tragedy be prevented? Authorities say it can be done by continuation of two programs: fire prevention and flood control.

In the Santa Barbara area, where fire ravaged 67,000 acres of mountainous Los Padres National Forest this summer, tons of debris, rock and mud bat-physicians are required now to report to the sheriff cases in which a person has been beaten, cut up or shot.

New Month's Weather

The law recommended by the council's Judiciary Committee would require doctors, coroners, osteopaths, hospital interns, resident physicians, pharmacists, nurses, laboratory technicians or superintendents or managers of hospitals to report cases of apparent child abuse to police.

The cases to be reported would be those that gave physicians or other persons reasonable cause to suspect that the child (under 16) had been harmed by abuse or neglect.

Under the bill, doctors reporting such cases would be immune from criminal or civil liability. It would also permit court testimony by either spouse against the other.

Under present state law a husband or wife cannot testify against his mate.

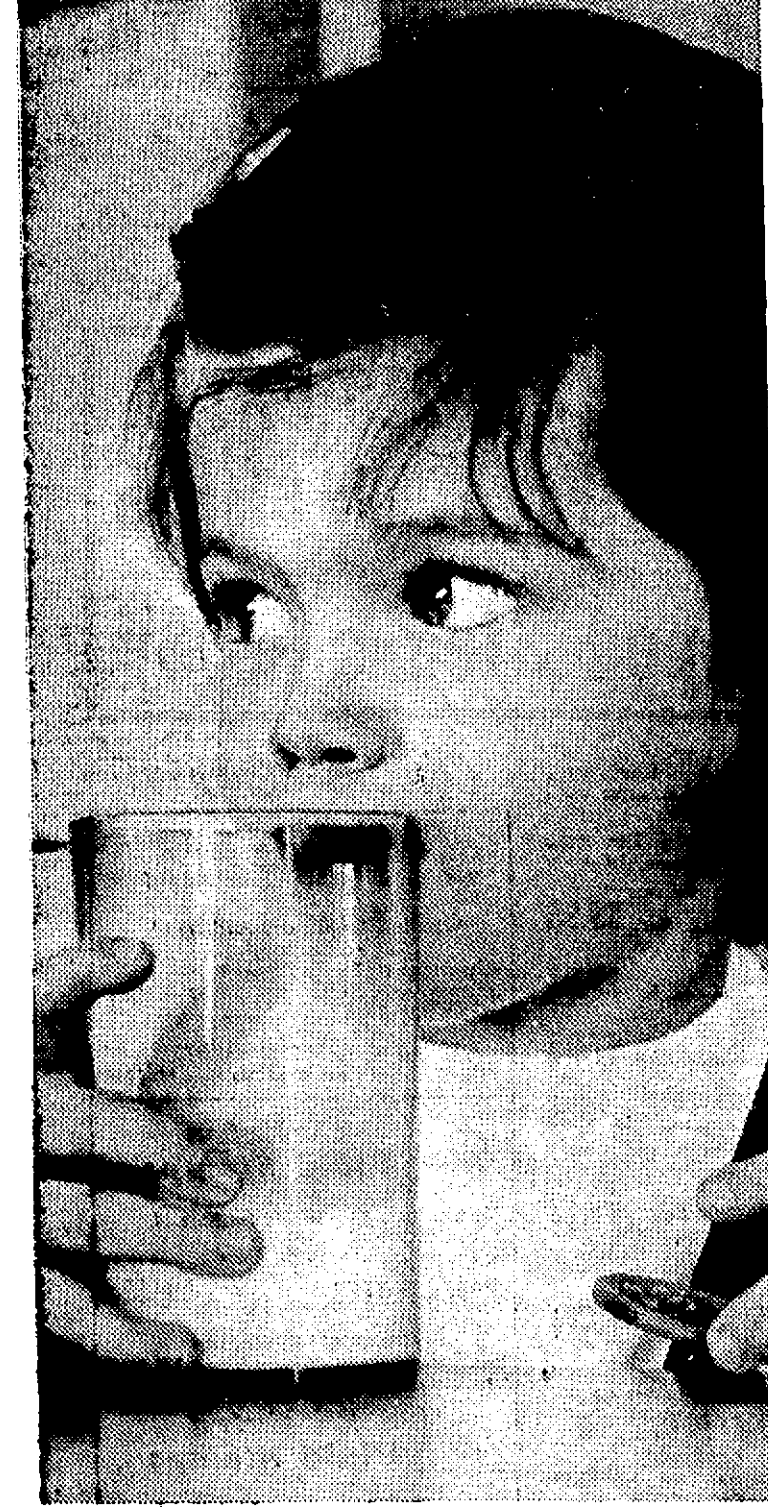

The bill would set a penalty for failure to report child abuse at $500, a one-year jail sentence, or both.

The proposed bill was presented to the committee by Pulaski County Rep. Joel Y. Ledbetter Sr. and Monroe County Rep. Doris McCastlain.

In other action, the council instructed Garland County Rep. Nathan Schoenfeld to prepare for presentation to the council legislation to regulate collection agencies in the state.

The measure would define a collection agency as any individual or organization, engaged for hire in collecting delinquent accounts, bills or other forms of debt.

Attorneys, employees of firms collecting for their employer, banks, lending and real estate businesses would be exempt from the law.

Why is Borden's the milk for children?

Because it's better than it has to be.

All milk must meet government standards. But Borden's Milk is always fresher and richer than the law requires. Today, 23 different checks for quality maintain Borden's century-old tradition of dairy excellence. Remember this, next time you buy milk for your children. If it's Borden's, it's better than it has to be!

Doctors May Support Child Abuse Case

By LEN TALIAFERRO Associated Press Writer

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Officials of the Arkansas Medical Society indicated Tuesday night that the state's physicians would probably go along with a law forcing them to report cases of child abuse.

The Judiciary Committee of the Arkansas Legislative Council recommended earlier Monday that the state legislature pass such a bill during its 1965 session which begins in January.

Dr. Elvin Shuffield of Little Rock, chairman of the Arkansas Medical Society's Legislative Committee, said he believed the society would be inclined to approve such legislation.

Dr. Joe Verser of Harrisburg, secretary of the society's Examining Board and a former society president, said he could see no reason why the society would not approve the legislation.

The society's House of Delegates meets Dec. 6 to consider such proposed legislation, Shuffield said.

He said that he believed such a law is needed because under present conditions physicians cannot legally report cases of child abuse which are brought to them for treatment.

"It's a real problem," Shuffield said. "Some of these children are badly beaten."

Both Shuffield and Verser said they did not feel that such a law would cause the parents of a seriously injured child to not seek aid for fear of being reported.

"In most instances," Shuffield said, "someone is aware of the problem and is sympathetic enough to take the child to a doctor."

He said in most cases, the mother of the child is the one who takes it to a doctor for treatment after the child has been beaten by a father or stepfather or some other member of the family.

Verser said he felt there is a possibility that the person who actually did the abuse might hesitate to take the child to a doctor, just as someone hurt during a robbery or other illegal action might hesitate to seek aid.

Verser also pointed out that

Fine Thanksgiving Fare: Oyster-Stuffed Cornish Game Hens

When the air is crisp and fall leaves crackle underfoot, it's time to think of Thanksgiving day dinner. This year, try making delicious Oyster-Stuffed Cornish Game Hens. Inexpensive as well as easy-to-make from frozen Hi Ho crackers and frozen oyster stew, this stuffing gives a unique, subtle flavoring to the golden brown birds. Here's how to make it:

Oyster-Stuffed Cornish Game Hens

60 Sunshine Hi Ho crackers (about 3/4 of 10-ounce package)

1 teaspoon instant onion flakes

1 teaspoon green pepper flakes

3/4 teaspoon grated lemon rind (about 3/4 of 10-ounce can frozen oyster stew, 10 ounces, thawed and undrained)

4 Cornish game hens, about 1 1/2 lbs. each

1/2 cup melted butter

Break crackers into coarse crumbs; mix well with onion flakes, pepper flakes and lemon rind. Pour in thawed oyster stew. Snip whole onions into several pieces with scissors; toss mixture well. Stuff body cavities and crops of hens lightly; do not pack. Fold wings and pin back skin in back with small skewer; the drumsticks to tail piece with cotton cord. Brush hens all over with melted butter and place on rack in shallow pan. Bake in hot oven (425°F) for about 55 minutes, or until drumsticks are tender and twist easily in thigh joints. When done, remove strings and skewers before serving. Yield: 4 servings.

Revolution Gives Brazil Confidence

By FRANK BRUTTO

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP) — Brazil today, seven months after a nearly bloodless revolution ousted Joao Goulart and his pro-leftist government, looks confidently to the future more so than in years.

Under the guidance of President Humberto Castello Branco, Brazil's image at home and abroad has become more impressive.

The revolution abruptly ended a Communist threat to take over the nation.

It ended rabble-rousing and flash strikes that menaced industry, communications and transport.

It also ended a round of arbitrary pay increases that ranged as high as 100 per cent and which together with skyrocketing prices threatened to blow the top out of the nation's inflation.

Pay increases now are more orderly. Price increases are regulated. But inflation still is at a dizzy pace. The cruzeiro is at the almost all-time high of 1,700 to the U. S. dollar after having steadied temporarily at 1,000 immediately after the revolution. Two years ago it was 600 to the dollar.

Finance Minister Otavio Gouveia de Bulhoes has optimistically set next June as target date for checking the galloping inflation and stabilizing the economy.

For the government, it is still a time for massive financial assistance.

Roberto Campos, economic planning minister, back from a money-hunting mission in Washington, said that Brazil needs a billion dollars to meet the deficit in its balance of payments in 1965 and 1966. More aid will be needed to grease the machinery of development necessary for the firm future of this nation whose population in less than a decade will total 100 million.

For the average Brazilian, it is still very much a time for belt-tightening in the face of mounting prices for food, clothing and shelter.

But prospects for help are brighter than they were while Goulart's leftist anti-Alliance for Progress administration frightened foreign investors.

Alliance for Progress aid has increased sharply since the revolution. Foreign investment interest has revived.

Roberto Campos' Washington trip set what is generally considered to be a favorable groundwork for aid discussions that continue here with arrival of an International Monetary Fund mission, and, later this month, with arrival of a special mission from the U. S. Agency for International Development.

Campos says Brazil will endeavor during these discussions to obtain enough to cover its 1965 and 1966 deficits. Efforts will be made to get aid not only

Teenagers Learn to Bake Bread in 4-H

Today's young teenagers are plunging right into homemaking tasks and enjoying outstanding success. For example, 13-year-old Annette Eachor, a 4-H Club member, already has spent three years on various food projects.

Loves to Bake

Her favorite is baking bread, seven loaves at a time. Not only do her parents and two younger sisters enjoy the freshly baked bread, but so do friends and neighbors. Annette manages to find time to bake and sell bread.

Her recipe printed here is easy to follow, says Annette. She is one of more than a half-million 4-H members from Maine to California who are participating in the national 4-H bread program conducted by the Extension Service and sponsored by Standard Brands.

WHITE BREAD (Sponge Method)

Makes 7 Loaves

- 1 pkg. active dry yeast
- 3 1/2 cups warm water (105°-115° F.)
- 4 tablespoons sugar
- Dissolve yeast with water in a bowl. Add sugar. Stir until dissolved. Stir 6 cups sifted flour into mixture. Cover and let rise in a warm place until bubbly on top. Then add:
- 2 cups scalded milk—cooled to lukewarm
- 4 tablespoons melted shortening
- 1 1/2 tablespoons salt
- 12 cups sifted flour

Knead dough until smooth and elastic. Place in greased bowl and let rise until double in bulk. Divide into 7 equal portions. Let rest 10 minutes. Shape into loaves and place in greased pans. Let rise again until double in size. Bake at 350° F. 40-45 minutes. Remove from pans and cool.

Shows Others How

Demonstrations and contests are part of the program. Meal planning, nutrition and balanced diets are studied and put into practice. Success with bread plus general 4-H accomplishments can earn for the member an expense-paid trip to the National 4-H Club Congress in

"Kneading the bread dough is a very important step in bread baking," says 4-H'er Annette Eachor, "and it's as easy as it looks. All it takes is a little practice."

Chicago and a $500 college scholarship given by Standard Brands. County winners receive medals.

Annette is not yet eligible to compete for the state trip award, but next year when she is 14, she can try. The pretty brunette gets plenty of encouragement at home because her mother was a 4-H member and attended the Chicago congress as winner in a dairy foods project.

Church Wants No Fund Raising

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Washington Presbytery has recommended to its 70 churches that they don't use bazaars, fairs, sales, dinners and similar events to raise money.

Commercial undertakings of this nature are "inconsistent with good stewardship," said a motion offered Tuesday by the Presbytery's stewardship committee.

Preferred fund-raising methods are tithes, Sunday offerings and annual pledges.

Cherry Tarts

There's something especially intriguing about favorite dishes prepared in miniature form. These Cherry Tarts as a change from regular pies, for instance, will certainly delight your family and guests — and, because "convenience" foods aid in the preparation, kitchen time is kept to a minimum.

Enriched self-rising flour with leavening and salt already added gives your pastry preparation off to a speedy start. You'll be so pleased, too, with the beautifully golden-brown, puffy-crisp results. After baking the tart shells, spoon in a surprise layer of cream cheese, then fill with canned cherry pie filling. What could be easier?

Fruit tarts make a good nutritional ending for meals. Pastry made with enriched self-rising flour has the nutritional contribution of the essential B-vitamins thiamine, niacin and riboflavin and the minerals iron and calcium. The fruit and cheese fillings add still other important nutrients.

CHEERRY TARTS

6 tarts

- 1/2 cups sifted enriched self-rising flour
- 1 package (3 oz.) cream cheese, softened
- 1/2 cup shortening
- 1 tablespoon milk
- 3 to 5 tablespoons cold water
- 1 can (1 lb., 6 oz.) cherry pie filling

Set out six 3 1/2-inch tart pans and a baking sheet. Preheat oven to 450°. Into medium-sized mixing bowl measure flour. Cut in shortening until pieces are size of small peas. Sprinkle with water, a little at a time, mixing lightly until dough begins to stick together. Turn lightly floured board or pastry cloth turn out dough and press together. Roll out 1/4-inch thick. Cut dough into circles to fit tart pans and fit gently into pans. Reserve pastry scraps. Trim edge, turn under and flute. With cookie cutter or sharp knife cut six cherry shapes from remaining pastry. Place cut-outs on baking sheet. With fork prick cut-outs and bottom and sides of tart shells to allow steam to escape. Bake tart shells and cut-outs 12 to 15 minutes, or until lightly browned. Cool on wire rack. Meanwhile, in small bowl blend cream cheese and milk until light and fluffy. Spread about 1 tablespoon cheese mixture on bottom of each cooled tart shell. Top with cherry pie filling, then garnish with cut-outs. Keep refrigerated until serving time.

If you don't sift and in the absence of other directions, spoon flour directly from a container into a one-cup dry measure, level off, then remove two level tablespoons, according to USDA recommendations.

Fined Youths to Wash Police Cars

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — The city's police cars will get a free car wash next Sunday from four 17-year-old Hot Springs youths who chose the wash job as punishment rather than a $50 fine.

Municipal Judge Robert Ridgeway gave them the choice. The youths were charged with disorderly conduct for throwing eggs at a Negro woman.

British Labor to Unveil New Budget

By COLIN FORST

LONDON (AP) — Strengthened by a 21-vote margin in its second test in Parliament, the Labor government unveils today a national budget designed to raise extra revenue and reduce Britain's imports bill.

The budget, being introduced less than a month after the Labor party came to power, was expected to increase sales taxes and introduce a long-term levy on capital gains — now taxed only if profit is taken within six months of purchase.

The main expenditure item was expected to cover increased retirement and war pensions and relief benefits.

The main function of the budget was to regularize the 15 per cent surtax on imports the government imposed last month to cut imports. Imports have been running far ahead of exports, giving Britain an adverse trade gap estimated at $2 billion this year.

Britain's trading partners in Europe have criticized the surcharge, contending it violates the rules of the seven-nation European Free Trade Association and the larger General Agreement on Trade and Tariffs — GATT.

The government's second test in the House of Commons came Tuesday night on a Conservative motion expressing no confidence in the Labor regime's program. Bolstered by unexpected support from the Liberals, Prime Minister Harold Wilson's government won the vote 315-294.

The nine Liberal members of Commons had been expected to abstain, but Jeremy Thorpe told the House his party would vote against the Tory motion because: "In the first place it is arrogant, secondly it is complacent and thirdly it arises, some three weeks after the government has taken office, out of sheer bigotry."

On Monday night, the new government weathered its first confidence test by only six votes. On that ballot the Liberals supported a Conservative motion criticizing Labor's plans to nationalize the steel industry.

Wilson announced he will go to Washington Dec. 7-8 for talks with President Johnson.

bitterly, "you can add one more to it. I haven't reported it and I won't, but he also wrote out a check on my company and cashed it. For $1,000. But don't let her know it." He jerked his head in the direction of the second floor.

"Your wife mentioned that he recently brought someone home with him who was named Joseph. Do you know who that might be?"

He shook his head. "They were gone before I got home. My wife mentioned it."

"Well, thank you, Mr. Emery. I said, I stepped around him to leave."

"I'll be honest with you, Mr. Morgan," he said. "I hope my son has gotten away so that you will never find him. But if you do find him, see to it that he's put away, quietly if that's possible, but placed where he'll never come back here. My wife's had all she can take."

I went downtown and stopped at my office. There was a TWX from Dallas. David Segal was still there. I picked up the phone and called Bernard Ellis at the parole office.

"Blake Morgan," I said when he answered. "I don't think I have to see your boy Shaw tomorrow afternoon."

"Got your man?" he asked. "I think I have him spotted. Now, all I have to do is find him."

"Well, I wish you luck, Frank."

y, I'm just as glad that you're not going to see Shaw. It's been a rough road for him and even being questioned might set him back."

"He can relax—for the time being," I said. I hung up. A look through the phone book told me where the Red Vest was. It was a bar and restaurant on West Tenth Street in the Village I decided to pay it a visit.

It was a nice little place, the kind you find so often in the Village. It was still too early for the cocktail hour and the bar was empty except for the bartender. He wore a red vest.

I slipped into a stool and ordered a dry martini.

"Just right," I said when I tasted it.

Bartenders are like cooks. Praise their mixed drinks and you're a member of the club, make a face and they'll sulk the rest of the day.

"Been working here long?" I asked him.

"Five years," he said. "On the day shift. The night man's been here seven years."

"You know a Ricard Emery who sometimes comes in here?" He picked up a cloth and rubbed the bar. "I don't know most of them by name. Maybe one or two, that's all."

I took the photograph from the envelope and held it up. "This is Ricard Emery."

Republican Self-analysis Continues

By BARRY SCHWEID
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Republican party's self-analysis continued today with twin calls for a sort of "collective leadership" group to guide GOP fortunes.

Rep. Melvin R. Laird of Wisconsin and Gov. Robert E. Smylie of Idaho advanced the idea of a temporary party agency while Sen. Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania urged an immediate and independent audit of the national committee's campaign treasury.

The description "collective leadership" was provided by Laird, a prominent House Republican who was chairman of the platform committee at the party's national convention. He said a broad-based group is needed "to fill the vacuum of leadership" and to work toward "rebuilding of the party."

"This is no time to hunt for scapegoats, no time to indulge in intraparty bickering, no time to pursue personal ambition," he said in a statement. "Above all this is no time for anybody to read anybody else out of the Republican party."

Laird said the leadership group should include:

- Representatives of the Republican members of the Congress, Republican governors, other Republican officeholders at the state and local level, Republican National Committee members, Republican state and county chairmen, as well as Republicans from private life in various fields of endeavor.

Similarly, Smylie, president of the Republican Governors Association, suggested Tuesday creation of an agency "somewhere between a formal convention and a continuous council" to keep the party platform up to date.

The governor, who already has demanded that National Chairman Dean Burch resign, said the leadership group should include Republicans in and out of office. He suggested former President Dwight D. Eisenhower; Sen. Thurston B. Morton of Kentucky, a former GOP national chairman; Senate Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, and House Leader Charles A. Halleck of Indiana be included in the group's membership.

Scott told a news conference in Philadelphia that "Southern scalawags" and "hard-core radical right" elements in the party's leadership must be purged.

A former party chairman who generally supports liberal legislation, Scott won re-election to the Senate last week by 42,000 votes. Absentee ballots still are to be counted.

Citing reports that the party may end up with a national campaign surplus of $1.2 million, he said such a treasury would be "intended to keep the radical right in control of the Republican party."

"These people apparently anticipated the defeat of Barry Goldwater and William E. Miller and hoarded this money," he said.

Best Turkey Ever!

A plump, golden-brown turkey on the table is the season's No. 1 tradition. In this day and age knowing cooks know that preparing the bird is not a complicated job. They know, too, that the simple addition of Ac'cent will make their turkey more flavorful, both inside and out. You'll have the best turkey ever this year if you'll follow these easy tips:

- Estimate the number of servings desired for the traditional holiday feast and afterward. A 6- to 8-pound bird serves about 10; a 14- to 16-pound bird about 20.
- Store frozen turkey in its wrapper to retain its moisture. Thaw gradually in the refrigerator, allowing about 12 hours for a small turkey and 24 hours for a large one. Remove wrapped giblets from turkey cavity.
- Wash turkey in cold running water. Pat inside dry with paper towels and leave outside moist.
- Sprinkle the skin and cavities with Ac'cent to bring out the natural turkey flavor and emphasize the juicy quality of the meat. Use ½ teaspoon Ac'cent per pound of turkey. Sprinkle half the amount over the skin and inside the cavities; divide remainder between stuffing and gravy.
- Allow about ¾ cup stuffing per pound of bird and pack loosely; it swells during roasting.
- Roast turkey in a slow oven (325°F.) under a "tent" of aluminum foil to eliminate basting. Allow about 30 minutes a pound for birds under 12 pounds, 20 to 25 minutes for larger birds.
- After bird is cooked, let it stand about 20 minutes before serving. This allows the juice to be better absorbed and makes carving easier.

"DEAR ABBY"

SOMETHING'S WRONG SOMEWHERE!

By Abigail Van Buren

Dear Abby: My only brother died in California a few years ago and was cremated. When I visited his widow, this summer, I asked to be taken to the place where my brother's ashes were kept. She opened the door of a closet which was crowded with junk, old luggage, and boxes jammed in every way. Finally she unearthed a shoe box and said, "Here it is." I was speechless. I didn't even open the box, but handed it back to her. I was shocked that my beloved brother's ashes were kept in such a place. I cut my visit short but it's been on my mind ever since and I don't know what to do about it. My sister-in-law goes to church regularly and says grace before meals. Please put my mind at ease with some advice. Am I overly sentimental?

Dear Bewildered: No. Apart from your sister-in-law's appalling lack of respect for her husband's remains, something else is cockeyed here. Each state has its own laws governing cremation and the disposition of ashes. And under the California Health and Safety Code, the ashes are not given out. They are either placed in an urn and kept in a bona fide cemetery, put in a mausoleum-type building, or buried in the earth (like a casket) with a marked grave. Ask your sister-in-law how come your brother's ashes are in a shoe box in her closet?

Dear Abby: My second wife and I have been married for 15 years. My first wife died. I had eight children by my first wife and none by my second. When my children introduce me to any of their friends, they say, "This is my father... and this is Mary." Mary has gone all out to be a good mother to my children and she has been a wonderful wife to me. All the children are married and have children of their own, so they could call us "Grandma and Grandpa." Or they could refer to Mary as their stepmother, or even "Mrs. So and So." What procedure should I use to get my children to refer to my wife in a more respectful manner? GRANDPA

Dear Grandpa: Why not call your children together and ask that they refer to your wife in a manner more pleasing to you? I vote for "Grandma" for the children and see nothing wrong with "Mary" the rest of the time.

Dear Abby: That Tampa funeral director who said the one who cries the loudest at a funeral is usually the one who died the least for the deceased during his lifetime doesn't know what he's talking about. My husband was killed in an automobile accident in July, and I don't know who cried louder, his mother or me, but everybody at the funeral will tell you it was close. He was the pride and joy of his mother's heart, and there was nothing in this world I wouldn't have done for him. I don't remember what I wore to the funeral, but my sister-in-law told me later that I had worn my heavy winter coat (in July!) And I couldn't tell you who rode where in the funeral procession. All I can remember seeing was that hearse ahead of me. Gee, that Tampa man's letter burned me up.

U.S. Resigned to Alliance Agreement

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
AP Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States appears to be reconciled, although reluctantly, to a stretch-out in the timetable for concluding a draft agreement on formation of a sea-borne nuclear missile force within the Atlantic Alliance.

The timetable had set up a year-end target date for the proposed agreement, which is being hammered out by working group of North Atlantic Treaty Organization representatives in Paris.

Belgian Foreign Minister Paul Henri Spaak said after a conference with Secretary of State Dean Rusk Monday that French opposition to the nuclear-force project had opened up a lot of questions that would take some time to answer. He dismissed talk of any final agreement in the immediate future.

U.S. officials conceded today that the vigorous campaign against the multilateral nuclear force — MLF — recently launched by French President Charles de Gaulle has badly tangled an already complicated situation.

But the real reason for delay now is the fact that Britain's new Labor government needs some time to develop NATO nuclear plans of its own.

The Labor party has advocated that Britain get out of the nuclear weapons field entirely and rely primarily on the power of the United States for protection.

Rusk apparently still hopes to get the Paris committee of diplomats to conclude a draft agreement if possible by the end of the year.

Officials now say that the United States certainly is interested in whatever new ideas the British Labor government will put forward and understands the need for a delay in any final action for a reasonable time into 1965. The "reasonable time" is defined by officials here as meaning a delay of weeks and not months.

British Prime Minister Harold Wilson is expected here in about a month for talks with President Johnson. U.S. officials hope then to get some more precise ideas of just what nuclear weapons plans the new British government has in mind.

doggerel some of the events which had escaped the attention of the NBC topical revue while it was pre-empted by paid political broadcasts during the campaign. Then the performers buckled down to the business of wrapping up the election and they spared no one.

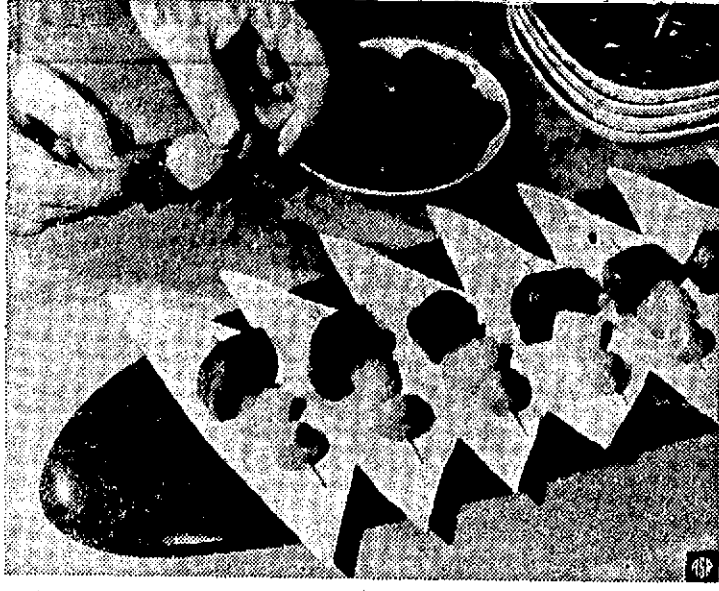

One amusing sketch, which I seem to have read somewhere before, was pegged on Sen. Goldwater's post-election expressions of friendship for the successful Democratic team. It had the three of them chuckling together over the stinging statements made in the heat of oratory.

Another bright spot was a number which had an actor playing Sen.-elect George Murphy in white tie and top hat doing a song-and-dance number to a tune played on the piano by a cigar-smoking Pierre Salinger.

Phyllis Newman did a wicked imitation of Audrey Hepburn. Later, with Tom Poston and Buck Henry she sang a witty pacan to polyandry, pegged to a scientist's prediction of an approaching shortage of women.

"TW3" has suffered critical slings and arrows, probably because it has not always been as razor keen as many of us would wish. But at least it is on the air and thus should be treasured.

Party Pretty And Delicious

A happy touch of Hawaii can be part of your next party... formal or informal... when you serve these tasty Teriyaki Kabobs. Refreshing pineapple chunks are arranged with beef that has been marinated in a flavorful sauce, then broiled. The olive is an exceptionally good companion to pineapple, and adds just the right amount of saltiness to the appetizers.

Teriyaki Kabobs

- 1 pound top round or sirloin steak, ¾" thick, cut into 25 cubes
 - 1½ cups drained pineapple chunks (No. 211 or 13½ oz. can)
 - ½ cup pineapple syrup
 - ¼ cup soy sauce
 - ½ teaspoon each ground ginger and sugar
 - ¼ teaspoon garlic salt
 - 25 small stuffed green olives
- Drain pineapple chunks and reserve syrup. Combine pineapple syrup, soy sauce, ground ginger, sugar, and garlic salt. Add steak cubes and let stand for one hour at room temperature.
- When ready to cook, drain the meat. Thread a cube of meat and a pineapple chunk on a skewer or bamboo stick. Broil 3 inches from heat for 5 minutes; turn and broil 5 minutes more. Add a stuffed green olive after broiling. Serve immediately, or serve in a chafing dish to keep Kabobs hot. (Olive is added after broiling to prevent shriveling.)

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Erle Stanley Gardner, the one-man book factory, was in town for a rare visit to his branchchild, Perry Mason, and to make sure the winning ways.

Gardner's advent was celebrated by a party given by Raymond Burr, the Mason of television. For the losers of the 371 shows during the series' eight years, The Place: the Losers' Club, a watering place along LA Cienega's restaurant row.

Burr didn't appear, but dozens of his defeated opponents did. Gardner himself was a grumbling participant. "My ears are bad and I have no gift for small talk," he complained earlier. But he seemed to have no complaint as he posed for photographs with three of the more luscious losers — Joyce Jameson, Kathie Browne and Lisa Gaye.

In a more relaxed mood, Gardner lounged at the Hollywood Hills home of his partners, Cornwell Jackson and Gail Patrick — she the executive producer of the CBS series. He is a chunky, tweed-suited man whose quiet manner is in contrast to the enormous energy he has poured into his work over the years.

"I come to Hollywood as little as possible," Gardner remarked. "People are apt to trample me to death, and I start to get behind in my work. I'm always closing office and opening up new ones because people catch up with me."

Besides, his 3,000-acre ranch in Riverside County, he has 27 acres at Paradise, Calif., and a houseboat which he keeps in the delta country of the Sacramento River. In these places and others, he maintains a staff of six to eight secretaries, who take the rat-a-tat-tat dictation for his books and correspondence — "I've forgotten how to operate a typewriter."

His output so far? He couldn't remember, so he had a secretary phone the ranch office. The report came back: 123 books, including 74 Perry Masons; four now at the publisher or in the works.

"I used to do two to four Masons a year, plus two under the name of A. A. Fair," Gardner

Arguments in Catholic Council

By BENNET M. BOLTON
VATICAN CITY (AP) — An American bishop and a British archbishop argued in the Vatican Ecumenical Council today against a general Roman Catholic denunciation of all nuclear weapons. They said such arms might be required for legitimate defense.

Speaking on a council proposal that nuclear arms be "utterly destroyed and banned," Auxiliary Bishop Philip Hannan of Washington, D.C., told the assembly:

"It is false to say that nuclear arms cannot be controlled. There now exist some weapons of very precise limitation. Their said, "But lately I've gotten sidetracked into other interests. For instance, I've been doing a lot of research on Baja California and have made expeditions down there. I'm also producing a book about houseboats. And I've been doing a great deal of investigation in the Superstition Mountains about the Lost Dutchman mine."

"Run out of ideas?" he said. "I don't think I ever will, as long as I maintain a variety of experience. I try to make each new Perry Mason better than the last one."

goal is to defend freedom from aggression."

Archbishop George Andrew Beck of Liverpool, England, speaking for more than 70 prelates, said the council "should not condemn the possession and use of these weapons as essentially and necessarily evil."

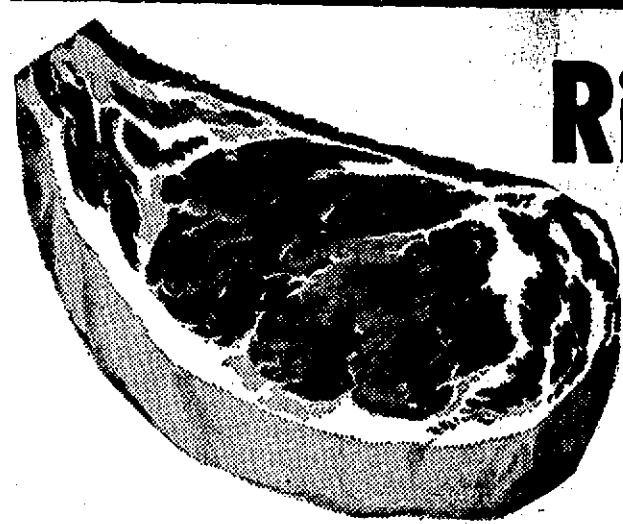

The British archbishop said governments had a "grave duty" to defend their nations and that the council should not "demand of governments that they decide on a unilateral abandonment of nuclear weapons."

Bishops at the Vatican Ecumenical Council are debating nuclear warfare and the weapons it puts at mankind's disposal. This is the subject of the final 750-word section of the council's schema on modern world problems.

At the heart of the current discussion is not so much types of weapons, says a clerical expert on arms problems, as the effects of weapons, especially on noncombatants.

The schema section notes that the human race is "terrified by new weapons capable of destroying the entire human family."

The schema urges settlement of disputes between nations by treaties instead of force. But it says defense against aggression is not illicit after all peaceful discussion has been exhausted.

Luxembourg to Get a Male Ruler

By FRED CHEVAL

LUXEMBOURG (AP) — Grand Duchess Charlotte puts aside Thursday the crown she has worn through 5 years of war and peace, and her son, Prince Jean, ascends to the throne of Luxembourg.

In a simple ceremony, the prince will take an oath as Grand Duke Jean — the first male to rule Europe's most prosperous nation in 52 years. He is 43.

The Grand Duchess, whose reign was the longest of any living monarch in Europe, formally renounced the crown last March. Luxembourg's leaders begged her to remain. Its people were saddened by the decision.

"I feel I have reached the age to retire, and I think Jean is the age to take over," she said recently. "After all, I am 68 now."

Prince Jean is not as popular among Luxembourg's 330,000 subjects as his mother. Dutiful as a child, he is rather withdrawn as an adult.

"A boy of very agreeable nature whose quiet and discreet behavior hides great strength of mind," a college principal once said of him.

He faces the throne at a much happier time than his mother, who became Grand Duchess at 23, on Jan. 15, 1919, when Europe was beset by the aftermath of World War I. Her sister, grand Duchess Marie Adelaide, abdicated because her countrymen believed her to have been pro-German.

Charlotte's darkest days came in World War II when Germany conquered Luxembourg. She and her family fled to the United States and Canada.

When she returned after the war, Prime Minister Pierre Dupong uttered the words that have become a motto: "Madame, we love you."

Steel-rich Luxembourg enjoys Europe's highest standard of living and has no great domestic problems.

Prince Jean is married to Princess Josephine-Charlotte, sister of King Baudouin of Belgium. They have five children.

The Grand Duchess is married to Prince Felix, 71, a descendant of King Louis XIV of France. They have five other children younger than Prince Jean.

Weather Has Everthing Confused

By JOE DILL

CHICAGO (AP) — This is the season when any suburbanite worth his salt usually is moodily contemplating his snow shovel. Instead, many of them have dandelion problems.

In the eastern half of the nation, trees stubbornly clutch their leaves and flowers are blooming. Even the birds are confused.

The western United States has felt the coming winter's sting, but the mild temperatures and fair skies of Indian summer prevail from the Midwest to New England. Much of the sun-favored area also is trapped in a prolonged drought.

In Chicago, a conservationist said the balmy November weather has kept the birds from

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — John W. Davis won the Democratic presidential nomination on the 103rd ballot that hot summer of 1924, and Oscar W. Underwood of Alabama not only lost but also failed to win renomination to the Senate. He lost because he resolutely turned his back on the Ku Klux Klan, whose votes controlled the nomination.

That, in essence, was the story told in the first program of NBC's "Profiles in Courage" series Sunday night. Based on the best-selling book written by John F. Kennedy when he was still in the Senate, it promises to be an intelligent and entertaining addition to a season notably lacking in interesting dramatic fare.

Underwood's opposition to the secret organization was partly strategy to eliminate his rival William G. McAdoo, but more than that, it was personal conviction. The moment of climax in the drama came when Underwood was offered the necessary Klan votes of delegates — if he would promise not to make them a campaign issue.

"I think I'll go out and get some fresh air," was his response.

Sidney Blackmer played Sen. Underwood of Alabama with dignity and without heroics.

Victor Jory, playing Underwood's hard-working and skillful manager, at one point quoted Homer Cummings: "The first function of a politician is to get himself elected. Everything else is a splendid redundancy."

Radio was there, too, and a reporter kept shouting the convention story into one of those big, old-time microphones. If the story had a weakness, it was this rather primitive way of keeping us informed of the background events.

All in all, however, it was an auspicious start. The welcome mat is certainly out for future programs.

When you want something rich and special yet not time consuming to prepare, try Walnut Rocky Road Frosting. Everybody likes chocolate and Diamond Walnuts together and will especially enjoy this frosting on a favorite cake made quickly from a packaged mix. Try this famed western frosting on sheet cake, too, or for individual cupcakes. You'll find plenty of fresh tasting walnuts from California in your local store. Choose them in-the-shell in cellophane bags or already shelled in handy vacuum cans or clear bags.

Walnut Rocky Road Frosting

1 6-ounce package (1 cup) semi-sweet chocolate morsels
1/4 cup butter
2 1/2 cups sifted confectioners' sugar
3 tablespoons scalded milk
1 teaspoon vanilla

1 egg
1 1/2 cups miniature marshmallows
1 cup chopped Diamond Walnuts

Melt chocolate over hot (not boiling) water. In bowl mix butter, sugar, milk and vanilla; beat in egg. Add chocolate, stirring till blended. Stir in walnuts and marshmallows. Makes enough frosting for an 8-inch or 9-inch two layer cake.

An African Woman Is Fine Artist

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP)—It took an African woman artist just a few moments to break down some of this country's rigid apartheid practices.

Amid the red-carpeted luxury of one of Johannesburg's top art salons, 200 black and white followers of art craned their necks to view 100 paintings comprising the Gladys Mngundlandu exhibition.

She is the first African to hold a one-woman show of this type in South Africa. Racially mixed parties, such as marked the opening, are unusual in this country.

Miss Mngundlandu, who weighs 196 pounds and is known to her friends as the Africa Queen, their annual sojourn.

"The other day," Robert Mann said, "I saw huge flocks of blackbirds and bronze grackles traveling east. They should have been flying south at this time of year. They seem to think it's still summertime."

"The flowers and the trees don't seem to know today is Nov. 11. Dandelions are blooming and leaves are still on buckthorn trees."

Indian summer, which has no definite beginning or end on the calendar, is a short period of especially fair days and chilly night in late October or early November.

The season is caused by a large mass of warm tropical air. American Indians are credited by some sources with naming Indian summer as their favorite god, Cantantawit, god of the Southwest.

In New England and the rest of the East, temperatures have been in the pleasant 60's.

In the Midwest, the mercury has been flirting with summertime levels. The temperature reached 77 degrees Tuesday in Kansas City, Mo., one degree higher than the record for Nov. 10, set in 1927. Chicago had 72 Monday, one degree short of the record for that date.

Virtually all of the eastern half of the country is caught in the drought.

Many wooded areas have been closed to the public in New York State. Indiana has banned camp fires in all state parks. The Iowa State Conservation Commission has urged owners of grass and timberlands not to start fires unless absolutely necessary.

There's little or no Indian summer in the West, but drought has plagued that area too.

Temperatures plunged to 10 degrees low freezing in Nevada Tuesday, hard on the heels of a pre-winter storm that dumped two feet of snow on the state's upper elevations. It was Nevada's first general precipitation since July.

Enjoys Fine Lunch of Hippo Steak

By RAYMOND J. CROWLEY

WASHINGTON (AP) — Assigned by a relentless editor to cover a luncheon featuring roast hippopotamus, your correspondent rushed out to a carry-out lunchroom and hollered:

"Give me a cheese sandwich in a brown paper bag. I don't want to starve this noon if I can't stomach hippo."

The upshot of this saga is that the cheese did not get eaten but some of the hippo did.

The occasion was the 20th anniversary luncheon of the Ant-eaters Association. This collection of some 5,500 members has never yet eaten ants, but has lunched on such things as bear from the Dismal Swamp, whale blubber from the arctic, Australian kangaroo and crab-eating seal from the antarctic.

The host is L. Gordon Leech, who also happens to be manager of the restaurant at the National Zoo. The members seem to be Supreme Court judges, generals, admirals, ambassadors and in fact anybody who can get up the $7.50 per lunch, not counting wines.

This time Leech had provided a two-ton hippo from Kenya, Africa, as the main dish. He got it from an animal dealer.

On the left-hand page of the menu is a list of appetizers, calculated to break down resistance to exotic foods. There are such items as "beaver eyeballs on the half shell" and "anteater stew, hunter style, with poison

Sioux Forces Driven Back in Maneuvers

FORT LEONARD WOOD, Mo. (AP) — Invading Sioux forces were driven back toward the Orland-Argentina border Tuesday by Ozark forces in the U.S. strike command joint exercise Gold Fire I.

Sioux efforts to regain an assault landing zone in the vicinity of Fuson, Mo., were repressed by helicopter command troops.

Ozark air forces maintained air superiority over the dwindling "enemy" elements by destroying over a dozen Sioux planes. Ozark aircraft also continued heavy air strikes along the battle line and flew some missions deep into the Sioux homeland against installations near Lebanon, Mo.

TAC C-130 Hercules flew in more than 1,250 tons of supplies to two assault landings in the ground combat area which aided Ozark ground forces in their drive to push the invading Sioux forces out of Orland.

Two missions were flown to test the new Air Force technique SEEFEST, an intelligence gathering system. The system is designed to relay instantaneously a visual and printed photo intelligence to ground commanders.

ivy salad and dust of golden rod."

This page is a gag. On the right-hand page is the real menu, starting off with tidbits of wild game. Very good.

Then there is pate-de-hippo, elephant, elk, moose and reindeer.

Follows the "hippo soup."

"I don't taste any hippo in it," a diner remarked.

"Oh," replied waitress Patty Bennie, "they probably dragged a hippo through it, or let one tip-toe through it."

Came the moment of decision. The piece de resistance arrived, preceded by an encouraging word from Mrs. Bennie.

"I won't lead it in; I will bring it in on a plate."

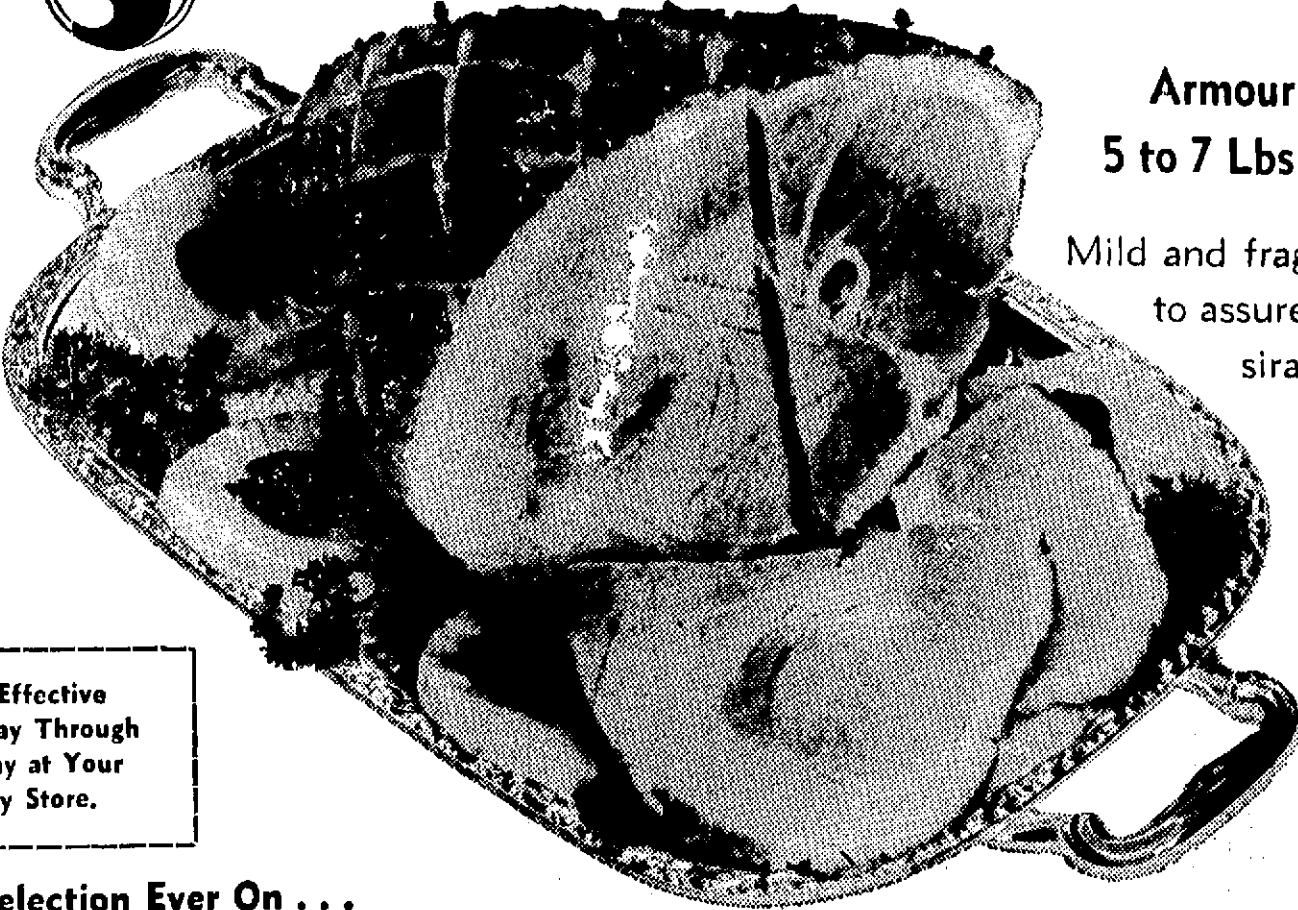

It looked like dark colored roast beef, rather tough. So your correspondent put the cheese sandwich back in his pocket and ate hippo. It tasted just the way it looked.
